Legion Proposed by La C. Sportsmen Will Come Up at This Session

COMMITTEE IS IMPRESSED

Lobby from La Crosse Argue for Amendments; Time Is Declared Too Short

MADISON, Wis., May 1.—(Special.)—The amendments to the fish and game laws which have been agitated by the La Crosse County Hunting and Fishing association will not be enacted by the special session of the legislature. Notwithstanding the fact that Dr. A. T. Lasmussen, president of the association, C. A. Bird and F. E. Gunther appeared today before the committee which has the game legislation under consideration, and made an able plea for the consideration of the proposed reforms, the committee decided not to recommend the consideration of the proposed amendments this session.

McConnell Leds Fight
The fight was led by Assemblyman J. E. McConnell and he was assisted by the members of the La Crosse association. Mr. Gunther's speech made a strong impression on the committee and every member admitted that the proposed legislation is undoubtedly needed.

Because of the fact that the governor is desirous that the special session should not last more than a week and on account of the opposition that would be sure to develop when the measure was introduced, the committee decided that it would be unwise to take it up at this time. Much encouragement was given the members of the association that the amendments will be carried at the next regular session of the legislature when the time can be spared for full consideration of the bill in all its details.

To Repeal Licenses
Two petitions, signed by hundreds of citizens from Pierce, Pepin, Buffalo and Trempealeau counties, were offered in the house today by Speaker Ingram, who had from that region a view of the determined opposition being made, has offered to exempt the Mississippi river from the bill provision but, as it would repeal all fishing licenses, the opponents of the plan would undoubtedly seek to defeat the entire measure.

YEAR OF ILLNESS FATAL TO OLD LA CROSSE RESIDENT; FUNERAL HELD TO-MORROW

Mrs. Janet Goodenough, aged 56, died of anemia at the home of her son, Frank Goodenough, 618 Division street, at 9:30 o'clock last evening, after an illness of one year's duration.

Mrs. Goodenough was born at Great Bend, Pa., on May 15, 1855. She has resided in La Crosse for the last forty-five years, having lived at 618 Clinton street, until a short time ago when she became ill that she has resided with her son since then.

The funeral will be held tomorrow afternoon at 1:30 o'clock from the residence of her son, Frank Goodenough, 618 Division street, and from the First Methodist church at two o'clock, with Rev. Magan and Rev. Ingham officiating at the services. Interment will be made in Oak Grove cemetery.

May Day Brings Raise In Cost Of Living

NEW YORK, May 1.—May-day's arrival brought with it today advances in the prices of beef, potatoes, ice and kerosene. The retail prices of beef show an advance of from four to ten cents a pound.

Potatoes are at a big price, the reason being short crops. But for the importance of a low grade of English potatoes, the dealers say that New York would be experiencing a spud famine at the present time. The Standard Oil company has raised the price of oil one cent a gallon. This is one cent more than was paid when the Supreme court handed down the decision ordering the dissolution of the company.

The slight increase in the price of ice came when all were expecting a reduction, as the ice crop was heavy.

NURSE IS BUSY DAY AND NIGHT

Mrs. R. B. Lowry Tells the Teachers How Visiting Nurse Covers All Parts of City

AVERAGES SIX CALLS A DAY

Price of Calls Only Five Cents Apiece; Visits Eagerly Looked Forward to

To acquaint them with the work which is done by the visiting nurse in La Crosse, Mrs. R. B. Lowry yesterday afternoon delivered a talk on this subject to all the teachers of the first and second grades of the public schools at the high school.

Mrs. Lowry went with Miss Peterson one day to find out what she did and she told of the result of her trip.

She explained that although Miss Peterson's hours for visiting are from 8 a. m. to 5 p. m., she often works from 8 a. m. to 5 p. m. while many days she works from 7:30 a. m. to 11 p. m. In many instances she has given up her Sunday for work, although she is not required to make visits on that day.

Six Calls a Day
The records show that from April 1, 1911, to April 1, 1912, Miss Peterson made a total of 140 calls or an average of six per day, although in many instances she made as many as twelve calls in a single day. The homes visited were in out of the way places for the most part but Miss Peterson has covered all sections of the city thoroughly. People of all nationalities and religions were called on.

The diseases which were found were pneumonia, paralysis, tuberculosis, rheumatism, eczema and catarrh of the eye. During the year twenty-seven different kinds of diseases were discovered in the city together with twenty-two undiagnosed cases.

Although many people pay as 75 cents for each visit of the visiting nurse, a great many pay nothing whatever, this being the average price of 75 cents to 5 cents.

Practically one of the diseases found about the city were due to alcoholism or shiftlessness and many of the patients were trying to care for themselves. Miss Peterson is popular throughout the city and her visits are eagerly looked forward to.

FOREIGN STEAMER LINES IN DANGER

House, Marine Committee Favors Humphrey Bill Barring Bats from American Ports

WASHINGTON, May 1.—To bring the big foreign steamship monopolies within the scope of the anti-trust law and to punish them for their "impudent and defiant" attitude toward the commercial interests of the United States, the Humphrey bill providing that no monopoly owned steamship shall be allowed to enter or clear from any United States port until the courts have effected a dissolution of the corporation owning it, was unanimously reported today by the house marine committee.

The report asserted that the foreign steamship "trusts" which handle 98 per cent of the import and export business of the country, have been openly violating the Sherman law. Freight and passenger rates are fixed by agreement, the report said. "The lines in these combines distribute the business and pool their earnings. They agree as to the number of vessels that each company shall run and the amount of traffic each line shall carry. To drive out independent lines they designate what they call 'fighting ships' run over practically the same course on the same schedule as the independent vessels, with instructions to cut rates to any extent."

EXPRESS COMPANY LEAVES LA CROSSE

United States Express Company Local Business Transferred to Wells Fargo

INCLUDES GREEN BAY LINE

All Express Offices of the Green Bay Route Now in Hands of Wells Fargo Company

The office of the United States Express company in La Crosse was discontinued today and the business of the company in this city taken over by the Wells Fargo Express company according to the announcement of George H. Merman, local agent of the Wells Fargo company.

Negotiations for the change have been under way for the last two months according to Mr. Merman and the deal by which the Wells Fargo company takes over the Green Bay route was completed a month ago. The change went into effect today.

Last fall negotiations were under way for a change of this kind but at that time no satisfactory arrangements could be made and the attempt of the Wells Fargo company was abandoned. Later however both companies came to an agreement and the transaction was completed.

The express going over the Green Bay line through this city does not warrant the up keep of the offices in this city and along the Green Bay line and it is for this reason that the transfer has been made.

By this transfer the Wells Fargo company comes into possession of all of the offices along the Green Bay line as well as those of this city but as this company has a large business in this city and has been forced to transfer a large amount of Green Bay shipments, it is thought that they will be able to work to more advantage.

The United Express company employed two men in this city, Arthur Fessenden and C. Selbo. Both of these men will now be employed by the Wells Fargo company.

RUNS SELF INTO ASYLUM—NEARLY

Cornelius, Hunting for Job, Frightens French Islanders by Undue Haste

Undue haste, even in looking for a job, may get one into difficulties. This was deeply impressed on Cornelius Penning, of Spring Grove, Caldonia and various other places, when he appeared in Judge John Brindley's court this morning and was compelled to undergo a rigid examination to prove that he was not insane. According to the evidence introduced at his examination Cornelius is not only some runner himself but he had several of the inhabitants of French Island, where he was looking for the job, running for their lives. Not only that but he compelled Undersheriff Louis Omerberg to run two miles through the swamp and brush of French Island before he was captured.

Gives Sheriff a Chase
Several telephone calls from French Island yesterday afternoon saying that a crazy man was scaring women and children started the machinery of the sheriff's office. Omerberg was sent up to see what was the matter. He soon discovered Cornelius near a schoolhouse where he had caused no small commotion among the children. As soon as the burly form of the undersheriff came into sight, the alleged crazy man took to the bush and it was only after a chase of about two miles that he was captured.

When asked to explain his conduct he said that he was looking for a job and he exhibited a ticket that had been given him by the employment bureau. The ticket directed him to a man on French Island. He admitted that he had tarried long enough on his search for his employer to absorb several drinks. He told the judge today that he thought that this perhaps had something to do with his erratic actions. His explanation was accepted and he was allowed to go.

Still on the Run
As Cornelius was leaving the office of the sheriff where he went to get his property, he was admonished by Undersheriff Omerberg that he had better hurry to get that job.

When last seen Cornelius was going down Fourth street toward the employment bureau on the dead run. Henry Linberg pleaded guilty to a charge of drunkenness before Judge Brindley this morning and was sentenced to thirty days in the county jail.

Henry Larson, a transient, accused of stealing tools from several boat-houses on the north side, pleaded guilty and likewise drew a thirty day sentence.

Johnson Offers To Compromise Debt

CHICAGO, May 1.—An offer of $4,000 cash to be paid into the United States sub-treasury was made today by Jack Johnson, heavyweight pugilist of the world, as a compromise settlement of the claim the government holds against him for $9,600, the duty and penalty on a jeweled necklace the fighter brought into this country. In accord with the policy of the government in such cases, it is likely the offer will not be accepted, and unless full settlement is made, an indictment may be returned against Johnson in New York.

INCOME TAX ROW NIPPED IN BUD

Attempt in Legislature to Repeal Law Defeated in Both Houses Yesterday

BEATEN BY A BIG VOTE

62 to 11 in Assembly and 20 to 6 in Senate Are Figures on Vote Against Repeal

MADISON, Wis., May 1.—(Special.)—The first fight in the special session of the Wisconsin legislature centered in an attempt looking to the repeal of the income tax law. In both houses it was summarily frustrated, the vote in the assembly being 62 to 11 and in the senate 20 to 6.

Chauncey Yockey of Milwaukee led the movement in the assembly and H. H. Bodenshaab of Milwaukee was sponsor for the resolution in the senate. Both joint resolutions were of the same effect—to request the governor to call a special session, to be convened immediately upon the adjournment of the present session, for the purpose of repealing the income tax law. In the assembly Mr. Yockey's resolution was referred to the revision committee, but the author at once moved suspension of the rules and asked that it be placed on its passage. Assemblyman Roessler asked whether the resolution was germane under the governor's call, to which Speaker Ingram replied that in his opinion it was not. From this decision Mr. Yockey appealed and in the roll call that followed the speaker was sustained.

MISS SCHWUGO DIES AT HOSPITAL TODAY

Miss Ida Marie Schwugo, 514 North Ninth street, a dressmaker, died this morning at the Lutheran hospital after a long illness due to cancer. Miss Schwugo was born in Germany September 1, 1875. The funeral will be held Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the house, and at 2:30 from the German Lutheran church, Rev. Julius Gamm officiating. A. G. Hallenbeck in charge.

CAR STRIKE QUIET

MILWAUKEE, Wis., May 1.—The street car strike situation was quiet today. Minor disorders marked the night on the north outskirts of the city when strikers stoned a car manned by non-union employees.

EGAN, INVENTOR, CALLED BY DEATH

Relatives Receive Word of Death of La Crosse Business Man in Mendoza

Relatives in La Crosse today received the news that J. E. Egan, 1702 Berlin street, owner of the Egan Manufacturing company of North La Crosse, died at Mendoza this morning. Mr. Egan was taken to Mendoza some time ago, following a serious illness of several months' duration.

Mr. Egan was born on French Island and was 44 years old. For the last twenty-five years he has resided on the north side and he was a well known resident of this city, where he has a large number of friends.

He was the proprietor of the Egan Manufacturing company of which he has been the owner for the last sixteen years and which has progressed rapidly under his management. About three years ago he invented a quack grass destroyer and since then he has invented a potato digger and a potato sprayer, all of which have met with success. The company manufactured several kinds of farm implements.

Mr. Egan was a member of the Modern Woodman lodge.

Surviving him are his widow and one son, Forrest.

GOVERNOR URGES UTMOST DISPATCH

Ten Special Subjects Laid Before Legislature for Consideration at Extra Session

RELIEF FOR BLACK RIVER

City's Indebtedness of $31,000 to State Trust Fund May Be Cancelled

MADISON, Wis., May 1.—The importance of urgency legislation in ten special subjects was laid before the Wisconsin legislature last night by Governor Francis E. McGovern in his message to that body on the opening day of the extraordinary session. The executive noted with regret the necessity of calling them from their daily duties to take up the burdens of state, and referred to their work in the 1911 session as "transcending in importance" the achievements of any preceding body. The emergency, however, demanded the sacrifice.

The message contains no word with reference to the income tax, for the obvious reason that Governor McGovern did not include that topic in his call. Although not intended to be included in the call, non-partisan elections for Milwaukee are treated in the message as a measure for which a great demand has arisen which he did not feel like passing by unnoticed. He recommends the enactment of such legislation at this session.

Urges Utmost Dispatch

Governor McGovern concluded his message by expressing the hope that the work might be finished within a week, and he urged that the utmost dispatch consistent with due care be employed in the legislation at hand.

The governor's message may be summarized as follows:
Relief for Black River Falls. Relief is asked for those rendered homeless or destitute by the flood, for the removal of the debris, the repair of the sewage system, etc. It is suggested that the city's indebtedness of about $31,000 to the trust funds of the state be cancelled, at the same time transferring an equal sum from the general fund to the trust funds to keep the latter intact. The state may not appropriate money to support the schools nor rebuild the business section. The governor suggests that the expense of building a retaining wall be met by making an appropriation from the drainage fund, thereby avoiding constitutional objections.

Portage levee. It is recommended that enough money be appropriated to protect the city of Portage and the Fox and Wisconsin river valleys from danger from overflow, and an equitable distribution of the expense of repair.

Public Control of Dams

The Black River Falls disaster is cited as an instance of improperly built dams. Public control of dams is recommended in the interest of "public safety and the general welfare." Legislation is declared to be needed for attaining ownership and operation by the public of all water-powers in the state whenever the people desire it.

Weights and Measures. Relief for berry growers and commission men from certain "harsh and unnecessary requirements" of this new law is asked, to the end that unexpected hardship be not imposed. "Particularly in the case of berry boxes and peach baskets they (the producers and dealers) say they have not had sufficient notice to enable them to comply with the new law," says the governor.

Sale of Public Lands. It is recommended that Chapter 452 of the laws of 1911 be amended to prevent all speculation in public lands and limit sales to actual settlers.

Amendment to Election Laws. The enactment of a law to validate the nominations and elections held on April 2, 1912, over which the wording of the new apportionment act cast an element of uncertainty, is recommended. The governor advocates the passage of a non-partisan election bill for the city of Milwaukee but refuses to endorse the same plan with respect to the county, arguing that county officers are essentially state officers, who are elected generally on the fall election day along with the state officers, members of the legislature, president, etc., when the voting is "openly and frankly partisan."

Lloyds Associations. Amendment to the law to make more definite and certain the conditions under which Lloyds associations may be admitted to transact a Wisconsin business is proposed.

Home Rule for Cities. In view of the fact that the constitutionality of the home rule law was not decided by the Supreme court at a recent sitting, the governor refrains from making any recommendation in this matter.

Amendment to the Fish and Game Laws. Legislation to permit the state game warden to take rough fish from state waters to be sold for state revenue is proposed.

Operate To Improve Memory Of Kimmel

CHICAGO, May 1.—Medic science and surgical skill today were brought into the mysterious Kimmel case, in an effort to determine the identity of a man who went to Niles, Mich., some time ago and failed in an attempt to establish the clan that he was George A. Kimmel, a former banker and son of M. Estelle Kimmel, who had been missing.

Dr. Loren J. Wilder, at the Robert Burns hospital, operated upon "Kimmel" today to relieve pressure of his skull in part of his brain, which he surgeons said might be impairing his memory. The Kimmel case, on account of $25,000 insurance sought by Mrs. Kimmel, has been fought in the court of five states, and once reached the United States court of appeals.

COMMITTEE WAITS DR. J. FURSTMAN

Mahoney's Resolution to Abolish the Position of Health Commissioner Is Defeated

COMMITTEE ENDORSES YORK

Will Recommend that Resolution Be Killed and that Work of Board Continue as at Present

That the office of health commissioner of La Crosse is due to continue in office content despite the action of certain aldermen in attempting to abolish the newly established changes, is evident from the action taken at the meeting of the finance, ordinance and health committees of the city council last night, when six of the eight aldermen decided to recommend he continue of the office.

At the last regular meeting of the city council, Alderman P. M. Mahoney and O. Granke both introduced resolutions to amend the health department. The resolution was referred to these committees and will be returned to the council with the recommendation that it be killed.

At last night's meeting Alderman P. W. Mahoney and J. Shneberger spoke in favor of abolishing the office, but the other members of the committees stood firm on the question and endorsed the department.

Mr. Mahoney's resolution was introduced to the city council following a reply Dr. Furstman made in correction of Mr. Mahoney's statements as to the cost of maintaining the department. In his reply Dr. Furstman declared that Mr. Mahoney had exaggerated the cost of maintaining the department.

At the next meeting Mr. Mahoney introduced a resolution to abolish all offices except one in the health department.

In view of the fact that the state board of health has commended La Crosse upon its health department, and that letters from all parts of the state have been flooding the office of the health department from other cities asking information with a view of patterning after La Crosse

WELFARE LEAGUE AFTER GAMBLING

Will Discuss Wheels and Other Devices in Meeting at Courthouse Saturday

Gambling in La Crosse will be the question for discussion that will come before the Public Welfare league at the meeting called to take place in the courthouse Monday evening. The executive committee of the league has prepared a report on gambling and will present it for action at that time.

The particular form of gambling which the league is going after at Monday's session, according to H. L. Taylor, a member of the executive committee, today, is the small wheels used by many cigar stores and saloons. Payments of winnings on these machines are made in merchandise. The committee alleges in its report that these are illegal, and that minors are allowed to play them.

The committee declares the mayor was consulted and asked to force all merchants using these wheels to get rid of them. They assert the mayor's answer was that he would see that minors were no longer allowed to play the wheels. This is insufficient, according to the committee, and they will attempt to have the wheels put out of business.

TAFT AND T. R. DIVIDE STATE BETWEEN THEM

Preference Shown for Taft by 5,000, but Roosevelt Gets as Many of the Delegates

DELEGATES-AT-LARGE T. R.'S

Colonel's Candidates for Delegates at Large Beat Taft's by Nearly 10,000

TO HAVE EIGHTEEN A PIECE

Returns Indicate that Bay State Delegation Will Be Evenly Divided Between Them

OYSTER BAY, N. Y., May 1.

—In a statement issued this afternoon Col. Roosevelt announced that he will not insist on the delegates at large from Massachusetts voting for him. He stated that, inasmuch as President Taft secured the majority in the preferential primaries vote, he will withdraw from the contest in that state so far as the delegates at large are concerned. This will give Roosevelt only ten of the Massachusetts delegates.

BOSTON, May 1.—With the thirty-six delegates from the Bay state equally divided between President Taft and Colonel Roosevelt, the Taft men were prepared this afternoon to contest the election of the eight delegates at large. General Edgar R. Champlin, head of the Taft forces, in the state in a long interview announced that the fact that the president secured the majority of the presidential ballots cast, would be the groundwork for the contest.

Lost by Mistake
It was not until late this afternoon that the result was completely cleared up. It was then found that Taft forces had won nine of the fourteen districts, only to lose the four delegates at large because of the presence on the ticket of a Taft candidate for delegate who was not endorsed by the machine. Nearly 10,000 voters marked nine names instead of eight, thus invalidating their vote under the primary law and permitting the Roosevelt delegates at large to win out despite the president's success in the preferential primary.

With three small towns which cannot change the result missing, the state vote on the republican preferential contest was:

Taft, 87,117; Roosevelt, 83,144; La Follette, 2,063.

Wilson Loses
So far as the democratic primaries were concerned Champ Clark snowed Governor Wilson under, the complete vote being:

Clark, 33,491; Wilson, 14,470.

The Boston city result, where the president had expected to defeat Roosevelt two to one, was as follows:

Taft, 11,281; Roosevelt, 10,651; La Follette, 249.

For the democratic candidates the city cast its vote:

Clark, 14,300; Wilson, 5,789.

One result of the primary is expected to be the retirement of United States Senator Murray Crane at the end of his present term. Roosevelt carried the fourth, fifth, seventh, ninth and fourteenth congressional districts. Taft is known to have carried the first, second, third, sixth, eleventh, twelfth and thirteenth and there seemed at eleven o'clock to be little doubt but that he will get the eighth district.

ASTOR'S FIRST WIFE COMES TO GOTHAM

NEW YORK, May 1.—Mrs. Ava Willing Astor, divorced wife of John Jacob Astor, who lost his life on the Titanic, with her daughter Muriel arrived here today on the Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse and went immediately to the Hotel Gotham. It was announced on her behalf that she will not attend the funeral of her former husband.

Rheumatism is one of the oldest of human ailments, and yet the causes which produce it was a question long in doubt. It was thought at one time to be a disease of the bones entirely; its origin was also attributed to some specific affection of the nerves, and various other theories which proved to be wrong, were put forward in an effort to find a cure for the trouble. Under these conditions the treatment of Rheumatism was very unsatisfactory and only of a temporary nature. When it was determined beyond doubt that Rheumatism is a blood disease, brought about by an excess of uric acid in the circulation, then its cure became a matter of purifying the blood and thus destroying its source. Because it is the best of all blood purifiers S. S. S. has been the most successful of all treatments for Rheumatism.

When this uric acid gets into the circulation it causes a partial fermentation of the blood, which changes it from a thick, rich stream, to a thin, acid fluid, whose nourishing properties are greatly impaired. Through the circulation the uric acid is carried to every muscle, joint and nerve of the body, and then the pains and aches of Rheumatism commence. The longer the blood is allowed to remain in this acid, weakened condition the more severe will the disease become. Gradually the muscles harden and lose their elasticity, the joints begin to stiffen, and frequently calcareous deposits collect and form knots at the finger joints.

The pains of Rheumatism may often be temporarily relieved by the application of hot cloths, liniments, plasters, etc., but as such treatment does not reach the blood, no one should expect permanent benefit from it.

There is just one way to cure Rheumatism and that is to purify the blood of the uric acid. S. S. S. does this more quickly and certainly than any other medicine. S. S. S. eliminates this uric acid because it is the most penetrating of all blood remedies. It is made entirely of roots, herbs and barks compounded and scientifically blended in such manner as to make it a medicine that acts through the circulation with good effect on every portion of the system. S. S. S. cures Rheumatism permanently because it removes the cause on which the disease thrives. S. S. S. contains no harmful minerals, it is perfectly safe for every one. Write for our special book on Rheumatism and learn of the great success S. S. S. has had in curing it. Any medical advice desired will be furnished you. No charge for the advice. S. S. S. is sold at drug stores.

REFUSED TO DIVULGE SECRET

Mrs. Pruitt Attributes Her Suffering in Later Life to the Fact That She Kept Her Condition Secret when a Young Girl.

Holly Grove, S. C.—"I was in bad health before I married," writes Mrs. Mary Pruitt, of this place, "but kept it a secret, as most young girls do. I am sure if I had taken Cardui, the woman's tonic, when I was young, I would not have gone through seven years of suffering."

Soon after I was married, the trouble became so severe, I was forced to seek relief. I tried every doctor I saw, and five different doctors in one town. They claimed they could cure it, but all failed and we decided that I would never be well. I had sick aching and drawing pains in my back, legs, sides and head, and I would cry and scream, and tell my husband that I was going to die.

Finally, one day, he read in the Ladies' Birthday Almanac about Cardui, the woman's tonic, and got a bottle for me. After taking the first dose, I felt better, and after using one bottle I never did have any more pain.

It relieved me at once. I can never praise Cardui enough. Cardui has been found to relieve women's pains and strengthen women's weakness.

It has stood the test of time. Try it.

BELIEVE BODIES CARRIED EAST

NEW YORK, May 1.—That the bodies of the remaining victims of the Titanic have been carried far to the eastward and are probably beyond reach of the recovery ship, was stated in a wireless received by the White Star line from Captain Mitchell, the message said:

"If bodies afloat, believe late north gale swept them into gulf stream and carried many miles east. Have searched longitude 48.20 between latitude 41.20 and 41.50 and recovered only one body, making total fourteen. Two being unknown, were buried, and believe those on board mostly members of the crew. Last two Howell, steward, and L. Cartwright. Also one man, underclothing marked 'H. B. 145,' apparently steward."

Over 100 were ready to make the trip to San Francisco. The party will be joined by Rockford and Hammond, Ind., pilgrims and will make a brief stop at Grand Canyon, enroute, arriving at the destination point May 4.

TELLS OF BURIAL FROM CABLE SHIPS

Chaplain Recounts Services of Burial for Titanic Victims on Morgue Ship

HALIFAX, N. S., May 1.—A written account of the burial at sea of 116 Titanic victims was prepared by Chaplain K. C. Hind of the Mackay-Bennett, as follows:

"Early on Sunday morning the search for bodies began, when the captain and other officers of the ship kept a lookout from the bridge. Soon the command was given 'stand by the boat,' and a little later the lifeboat was lowered and the work of picking up the bodies began. Through the day some fifty were found. All were carefully examined and numbered, their effects placed in separate bags."

"It was deemed wise that some should be buried at sea. At 8 p. m. the bell was tolled, indicating that all was in readiness for the burial service. Standing on the bow of the steamer as she rocked to and fro, one gazed at the starry sky above and then across the boundless sea, and to the mind came crowding in the words of the Psalmist of old:

"Whither shall I go then from Thy spirit, or whither shall I flee from Thy presence—if I ascend up to heaven, Thou art there; if I make my bed in the grave, Thou art there also—if I take the wings of the morning and dwell in the uttermost part of the sea, even there shall Thy hand lead me, and Thy right hand shall hold me."

"In the solemn stillness of the early night, the words from that unequalled burial office rang out across the water: 'I am the resurrection and the life, saith the Lord; he that believeth in me, though he were dead, yet shall live, and whosoever liveth and believeth in me shall never die.'

"When the time for the committal came these words were used over each:

"For as much as it has pleased the Almighty God to take unto Himself the soul of our dear brother here departed, we therefore commit his body to the deep, to be turned to corruption, looking for the resurrection of the body, (when the sea shall give up her dead) and the life of the world to come, through our Lord Jesus Christ, who shall change our vile body that it may live unto His glorious body according to His mighty working, whereby he is able to subdue all things to Himself."

"Then the prayers from the burial service were read:

"The hymn 'Jesus Lover of My Soul,' sung and the blessing given."

"Anyone attending a burial at sea must surely lose the common impression of the awfulness of a grave in the mighty deep."

"The wild Atlantic may rage and toss, and shipwrecked mariners cry for mercy, but far below, in the calm, untroubled depths, the bodies rest in peace."

"On Monday early the work began and another day was spent in searching for, and picking up the floating bodies and at night a number were buried."

"On Tuesday the work was still the same, until that afternoon when the fog set in and continued all day Wednesday."

"Wednesday was partially spent in burying bodies and at noon a number were committed to the deep."

"Thursday came in fine, and from early morning until evening the work went on. During the day word came that the cable ship Minia was on her way to help and would be near us by midnight."

"Early on Friday some more bodies were picked up. The captain then felt that he had covered the ground fairly well, and decided to start homeward at noon. After receiving some supplies from the Minia we bid good-bye and proceeded on our way."

"The Mackay-Bennett succeeded in finding in all 306 bodies, of which 116 were buried at sea, and one felt as we steamed homeward that of those bodies we had on board, it would be better if the greater number of them were resting in the deep."

ASK RESTRAINT ORDER

INSURGENT WOODMEN APPLY FOR INJUNCTION TO PREVENT PUTTING NEW RATES IN FORCE

DES MOINES, Iowa, May 1.—The insurgent Woodmen's law committee yesterday filed an application for an injunction in the state district court to restrain the head camp of the Modern Woodmen of America, with offices in Chicago, from putting into force the advance in rates which caused a near revolution among the 1,200,000 members of the order. There are three grounds for the action, according to the long petition.

First is the assertion that the head camp is illegally organized.

Second, that the head camp never adopted the advance in rates in accordance with its own by-laws.

Third, that the rates are excessive and ruinous to the prosperity and growth of the order.

OLD-TIME REMEDY DARKENS THE HAIR

Gives Color, Lustre to Faded and Gray Hair; Dandruff Quickly Removed

For generations Sage and Sulphur have been used for hair and scalp troubles. Almost everyone knows the value of such a combination for keeping the hair a good even color, for curing dandruff, itching scalp and falling hair, and for promoting the growth of the hair. Years ago the only way to get a Hair Tonic of this kind was to make it in the home, which was troublesome and not always satisfactory. Nowadays, almost any up-to-date druggist can supply his patrons with a ready-to-use product, skillfully prepared in perfectly equipped laboratories.

An ideal preparation of this sort is Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy, in which Sage and Sulphur are combined with other valuable remedies for scalp troubles and thin, weak hair that is losing its color or coming out. After using this remedy for a few days, you will notice the color gradually coming back, your scalp will feel better, the dandruff will soon be gone, and in less than a month's time there will be a wonderful difference in your hair.

Don't neglect your hair if it is full of dandruff, losing its color or coming out. Get a fifty cent bottle of Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur from your druggist, and see what a few days' treatment will do for you. All druggists sell it, under guarantee that the money will be refunded if the remedy is not exactly as represented. Special Agent, O. T. Erhart, 515 Main street.

will be advanced that our business men cannot afford to ignore the opportunity on the ground that Superior, Racine and other cities of the state will be "represented." It may be suggested that the question before the La Crosse business man is not whether some other city will be "represented," but whether the benefits to be derived from the advertising warrant the expenditure, and whether any features in the scheme that appeal to the prospective advertiser could not be achieved for less money through some other channel.

Another local enterprise about the wisdom of which we have considerable misgiving is the Police Souvenir, solicitation for which is in progress. That the work will be attractive we do not doubt, nor do we question the assertion that it will provide the police fund with some $1,500. But the scheme simply means that, in order to enrich the police fund to that extent, the business men of La Crosse are asked to pay several thousand dollars in addition which will be the profit of the promoters and which will not be retained in La Crosse at all. How immensely cheaper it would have been for the citizens of La Crosse to raise $1,500 for the worthy police fund by popular subscription!

On the whole, we cannot believe that advertising enterprises of this sort, which are simply money making schemes of non-resident concerns, can prove anything but uncompensated hardship to the men of a community wherein appreciation of the advantage of encouraging home journalism is shown by a constant and liberal patronage, a patriotic course the wisdom of which has been demonstrated in substantial "value received" by those who have learned that advertising sensibly presented and logically distributed is good business.

GET AFTER THE MEN HIGHER UP

In the same issue in which we urged the rigid enforcement of the speed laws affecting automobiles and motorcycles, there appeared news items recounting the arrest of a man for driving a horse at too high speed in the streets and of two boys for riding bicycles on the sidewalks. Doubtless had a go-cart containing a baby been apprehended for violating the speed ordinance, the day's triumph would have been complete.

We have no doubt that the police were justified in the arrest of the man and the boys, but until we hear of the arrest of that class of violators whose misconduct constantly and seriously menaces human life we shall not feel that our speed ordinance is properly interpreted and executed.

Such proof against motorists as a court will entertain is not to be had without effort, but Dr. Anderson demonstrated that it could be secured. The methods of obtaining it are known to the police, and it is among the reasonable expectations that something will be done to insure the safety of pedestrians.

WHAT BRYAN HAS COST BIG BUSINESS

Discussion of the possibility of Mr. Bryan again becoming the democratic standard bearer suggests inquiry as to exactly how many millions the thrice presented necessity of defeating the Nebraskan has cost Wall Street. No doubt there are in the "far east" gentlemen who would have been grateful for an opportunity to revise the sailing list of the Titanic.

Surprise for the Gatekeeper

Sam Hildreth's favorite story is of his friend, Bimberg, an ardent but unsuccessful follower of the horses in the days before it became an offense to admit that one horse can run faster than another horse, according to the New York correspondent of the Cincinnati TimesStar.

"Bimberg," said Hildreth, "had a $2 bill, but he had no ticket to the track. He knew a 10 to 1 shot he was quite sure would go through if he could only get in to play it. So he was ruminating near the gate when he saw a well dressed man go in."

"I'm Tim McMahon, the owner of Wild Nell," said he to the gatekeeper.

"Get along in with you," said the gatekeeper, genially. "Sure I have a snip on your mare meself."

"Bimberg noticed that McMahon had not displayed either badge or ticket. A second later another well dressed man came up and passed the ticket taker with a wink.

"I'm Robinson," said he, "the trainer of Wild Nell."

"I hope ye win," said the ticket taker.

"Pretty soon a weazen faced little man came up and breasted through the gate. 'I'm Togo Minch,' said he. 'I'll ride Wild Nell today.'

"More power t' ye," said the gatekeeper. Bimberg had an idea. He walked confidently through the gate, when the ticket man stopped him. "Hey," said he, "you didn't show a badge or give me a ticket."

"That's all right," said Bimberg, confidentially. "Listen, man: I'm Wild Nell."

Quips and Cranks and Wanton Wiles

The Sleepy Song
As soon as the fire burns red and low,
And the house upstairs is still,
She sings me a queer little sleepy song
Of sheep that go over the hill.

The good little sheep run quick and soft.

Their colors are gray and white; They follow their leader nose to tail, For they must be home by night.

And one slips over, and one comes next.

And one runs after behind; The gray one's nose at the white one's tail.

The top of the hill they find.

And when they get to the top of the hill

They quietly slip away.

But one runs over and one comes next—

Their colors are white and gray.

And over they go, and over they go.

And over the top of the hill The good little sheep run quick and soft,

And the house upstairs is still.

And one slips over and one comes next.

The good little, gray little sheep! I watch how the fire burns red and low,

And she says that I fall asleep.

His Fatal Kindness
The difficulty of supplanting nature is shown in a Fulton, Mo., dispatch to a Rochester paper. The communication declares that when Roy Chamberlain's pet dog Shep lost one of his legs the chances seemed to be against Shep staying this side of the dog heaven, but Roy built a wooden leg and attached it to the stump of Shep's limb.

Shep each night went to his master and permitted his artificial leg to be removed and in the morning it was strapped on again. Shep was really a much improved watchdog because he did not run around nights. The wooden leg, however, was the cause of Shep's death. In a fit of absent mindedness he went after a particularly ambitious flea that had chosen his head as a stamping ground and fractured his skull as he attempted to kill the insect with his wooden leg.

Roy painted the leg white and used it as a marker for Shep's grave.

Circumstantial Evidence

There was considerable chill in the air, and Sniffley didn't know whether it would be wise to begin a conversation with Mrs. Sniffley or not. Finally, however, the silence became too arctic for comfort, and he decided to risk it.

"Beautiful morning, my dear," he observed, as he lathered his chin.

"Don't talk to me, Mr. Sniffley," retorted the lady. "I am disgusted with you. You needn't fool yourself into thinking I don't know in what condition you and Mr. Bagley came home last night. I overheard your conversation."

"Conversation!" said Sniffley. "What did I say?"

"You said you didn't know, when Mr. Bagley asked you which keyhole was the right one, and there's only one on the door!" said Mrs. Sniffley.—Harper's Weekly.

NOT HER HUSBAND

HALIFAX, N. S., May 1.—A wireless message from Minia today dashed the hopes of Mrs. H. R. Rood of Seattle, who had been almost certain that the body of her husband was on board the Minia. The Minia reported the finding of a body dressed in evening clothes with the initials "H. R." appearing on the underclothing. This brought Mrs. Rood to Halifax posthaste, in the hope that the body was that of her husband. A wireless from the Minia today announced that the body had been positively identified as that of a waiter on the Titanic.

Saved from Hanging

News Item: New York: Samuel Levy, a paper hanger, living in an East side tenement, has received advice from his old home in Russia that he is the chief heir of an uncle who recently died in South Africa, worth $50,000,000.

To inherit such a fortune and to pass in one day from comparative poverty to affluence must be a fine sensation. We hope this paper hanger won't get stuck up now. Some kinds of pride are pardonable, particularly pride in being well dressed, such as is experienced by all our patrons.

WELL-KNOWN LAWYER CURED OF ECZEMA

By Cuticura Remedies Which He Recommends for Skin Troubles.

"While attending school at Lebanon, Ohio, in 1882, there was a small-pox scare, and we were all vaccinated. Presumably from impure virus used, I became afflicted with boils, which lasted for about two years, when the affliction assumed the form of eczema on my face, the lower part of my face being inflamed most of the time. There would be water-blister after water-blister, and wherever the water would touch it would burn, and cause another one to rise. After the blister would open, the place would scab over, and would burn and itch so as to be almost unbearable at times. In this way the sores would spread from one place to another, back and forth over the whole of my upper lip and chin, and at times the whole lower part of my face would be a solid sore. This condition continued for four or five years, without getting any better, and in fact got worse all the time, so much so that my wife became alarmed lest it prove fatal.

"During all this time of boils and eczema, I consulted with the best physicians of this part of the country, but to no avail. Finally I decided to try Cuticura Remedies, which I did, taking the Cuticura Resolvent Internally, applying the Cuticura Ointment to the sores, and using the Cuticura Soap for washing. In a very short time I began to notice improvements, and continued to use the Cuticura Remedies until within less than a year I was well again, and have not had a recurrence of the trouble since, which is over twenty years. I have recommended Cuticura Remedies to others ever since, and have great faith in them as remedies for skin diseases." (Signed) A. C. Brandon, Attorney-at-Law, Greenville, O., Jan. 17, 1911.

The Yellow Letter

A FASCINATING MYSTERY STORY.

BY WILLIAM JOHNSTON.

Copyright 1911—The Robbs-Merrill Co.

"I guess so," said Davis unconcernedly. "I saw a bundle of letters in a woman's handwriting, but I didn't even look to see whose they were."

I was disappointed thus far with the inspector's handling of the case. His disregard of what appeared to me to be vital evidence and the decision he had made about this address being that of the sender of the yellow letters seemed to me wholly illogical.

"You'll grant, of course, that Crandall is a morphine user," I ventured.

"A pair of swords in a man's room don't make him a fencer. Excuse me for a minute while I telephone my office."

While he was telephoning I reviewed the case in my mind. I was strongly tempted to break with him and continue the investigation my own way, and yet what had I to gain by it? After all, we had learned very little except that Crandall was connected with the mystery. Where were we likely to find Crandall? Davis had had much more experience in tracing men. He was resourceful, as the method in which he had effected entrance into Crandall's apartments showed. Just as I made up my mind that I would be wise to continue to follow his lead, lacking one of my own, Davis returned, an expression of annoyance on his face.

"Kent," he said abruptly, "you've got to start at once for Ardway. I had planned to go out there, but as I have to appear in court tomorrow there is no use in my going tonight."

"I'll go the first thing in the morning," said I, determined to see Louise again and have a talk with her.

"There's a train out there at four o'clock this afternoon," he said, looking up from a schedule he had picked up in the lobby. "It takes nearly three hours to get there. Never let a trail get cold if you can help it."

"But—" I protested.

"You can telephone her," he said. "It is for her sake that you will be going, and she will appreciate your energy in the matter more than anything else."

I had not looked at it in that light, yet I felt that he was right. There could not be a moment of happiness for the girl I loved until the black shadow that menaced her home and those she loved had been dispelled. Yes, Davis was right. I would go to Ardway that evening. I stopped only long enough to telephone Louise of my intentions and to go to my rooms for a bag.

"If you have a revolver you'd better take it with you," said Davis. "I never owned one in my life," I replied.

He drew out his own and handed it to me. It was of the hammerless variety, flat and almost square. "Be careful how you use it," he warned me. "It's a magazine gun and goes off with a very light touch."

"What do you expect me to find out in Ardway?" I asked him as a taxicab hurried us to the Hudson tunnel.

"There are two things. First, find out if Hugh Crandall is there, when he arrived and what he has been doing. Probably if he is at the hotel he will be registered under an assumed name. Second: find out who has Look Box No. 17. There is a list of box-owners kept in every office with the names of the two references. Find out all you can without arousing suspicion. I'll be out and join you there tomorrow evening. I'll come out on the same train. I'll leave it to you to find a plausible pretext for questioning the postmaster."

Tedious as the trip to Ardway would ordinarily have been, so absorbed was I in puzzling over the mystery I hardly noted the passage of time and was startled to hear the brakeman calling my station. I had learned from the conductor that it was a village of less than two thousand inhabitants and that there was only one hotel, about a block from the station. It proved to be a country hotel of the better sort, doing a thriving business in feeding motorcar folk who passed through and in taking care of traveling men and farmers' supply agents who visited the neighborhood.

As I signed the register, I scanned the names, hoping to see that of Crandall, but it did not appear. Yet registered the night before was a name "Henry Cook" that caught my eye. Something about the writing made it as distinctively that of a city man as his clothes would have distinguished him from the country boy behind the desk.

"Where will I find the post-office?" I asked the clerk. "I want to get a special delivery letter off tonight."

"It's a couple of blocks up Main Street," he told me, "but you'd better go in and get supper. The dining-room closes at half-past seven and the post-office stays open until eight."

I took his advice and, after an excellent meal, lighted my cigar and walked in the direction he had indicated. The streets were lighted after a manner by oil lamps at the corners. There was no moon and the villagers for the most part seemed to live in the rear part of their homes. Few of the straggling stores had their windows lighted, so it was with difficulty I read the signs on the buildings I passed, yet I had little trouble in finding the post-office. It was a one-story building that stood on a vacant lot in the middle of the block. It evidently had been built by some politician for the purpose, as it was not quartered in the corner of a cigar or grocery store, as most country offices are. Peering into the darkness I read the sign "Post-Office," and noted with some surprise that the windows were without light. I drew out my watch and striking a match looked at the time. It was only half-past seven. For lack of something better to do I walked around the building. To my amazement when I reached the end away from the street I found the rear door standing wide open. Thinking perhaps that the postmaster might merely have gone to supper, relying on the honesty of his neighbors to leave things undisturbed, I loitered in the vicinity for a full half-hour. At last, growing impatient, I entered the rear door and striking another match looked about me. As far as the uncertain light permitted me to see, the place looked as if the postmaster had been unexpectedly called away in the midst of his work.

I recalled that in my bag at the hotel was one of those storage battery lights, which

CHANGE SCHOOL CREDIT SYSTEM

Needy Students May Receive Mark on Work Required for Their Support

WILL HELP IN GRADUATION

Many Students in the La Crosse Normal Would Be Affected by the Innovation

A distinct innovation in the educational system of the state of Wisconsin has recently received the endorsement of Superintendent of Education C. P. Cary and as soon as the details can be worked out the idea will be put into practical use. Heretofore, needy students who have been compelled by stress of circumstances to work their way, in part at least, through college and normal school, have the same amount of aggregate credits to achieve in school by graduation time, as the well-to-do student. In the near future, all who do some kind of work which requires a certain amount of mental energy as well as muscle will receive reasonable credit for such toward the total required for graduation from any state institution. As many students in the La Crosse Normal school are partly, if not entirely, supporting themselves while attending school by waiting on tables, giving music lessons, keeping rooms in order, tending furnaces and lawns and doing other kinds of extra work, the proposed measure will be eagerly received by the local institution.

An act of great importance to the normal schools in Illinois, Wisconsin, Iowa, Kansas and Missouri is the Interstate Normal oratorical test which will be held May 3, at Emporia, Kansas. By virtue of being the champion orator of Wisconsin, Howard Jones of the local school will take part in the contest and left today for the scene of the event and with him go the fond hopes of all his many friends in La Crosse. Jones' delivery will go a long way in his winning a place as it is surely a scholarly effort and it will take a mighty good man and orator to beat him out. A cash prize of fifty dollars and gold medal is the reward for first place and thirty dollars and a medal will come to the winner of second place at the seventeenth annual interstate normal oratorical contest at Emporia.

NELSON'S TO MEET DOWN STATE TEAM

North Side Bunch Up Against Hard Game in Prairie du Chien Sunday

The Nelson Clothing company baseball team is scheduled to meet the fast Prairie du Chien city team at Prairie du Chien on Sunday in a game which will undoubtedly be a close and hard fought battle. The local nine showed last Sunday when they played the Winona Pirates that they have a great aggregation for the outfit the leaguers and would have had an excellent chance to win had it not been for a bunch of errors in the first inning which allowed the Minny leaguers to tally seven of the eight runs. After that round the locals had the advantage of Winona and they played in a manner which indicates a successful season for them.

Prairie du Chien has one of the best teams in this vicinity. The fans are looking for one of the feature combats of the year when they line up against the Nelsons. The locals are confident that they can down their opponents and they expect to demonstrate their superiority on the diamond on Sunday. Squires, who held Winona to five hits, will be on the slab for the Nelsons again and he will in all probability prove a stumbling block for Prairie du Chien as he is conceded to be one of the best twirlers in the city. He has a delivery which is difficult to solve and his slants will undoubtedly puzzle the down state team.

W-I. LEAGUE OPENS ITS SEASON TODAY

ROSKFORD, Ill., May 1.—The first of the 140 games scheduled in the Wisconsin-Illinois league will be played today. Appleton will play here; Wausau at Aurora; Oshkosh at Madison, and Green Bay at Racine. Wausau is back in the league this year in the place of Fond du Lac. Support has been pledged to the teams of the league in every city where the games are to be played.

MOHA BEATS M'KINNON

NEW YORK, May 1.—Bill McKinnon, middleweight and heavy-weight champion of New England, is today recovering from the effects of a beating administered by Bob Moha, the Milwaukee slugger, in a ten round bout last night.

JOHNSON WEIGHS 235, BUT IS GOOD

CHICAGO, May 1.—Jack Johnson weighed 235 pounds today. He announced that except from a little lameness due to his first workout yesterday, when he "did" eight miles on the south side boulevards, he was in prime condition. Artha will not do any boxing until next week, for fear of hurting again the shoulder that was injured recently in an automobile accident in Pittsburgh.

PAPKE MEETS COP

NEW YORK, May 1.—Billy Papke, the Illinois thunderbolt, and Billy Leitch, the ex-policeman with championship aspirations, will meet tomorrow night here.

NORMAL SECOND TEAM IS VICTOR

In an exciting seven inning game at the Normal school Monday afternoon, the Yannigan second team of the normal squeezed out a victory over the first nine by a score of 1 to 0. Gore for the second team, allowed but two hits in the seven innings while Coach Moore who pitched for the losers was touched for nine bingles. Good fielding cut down probable hits and runs and the game was put on ice for the seconds by a clever catch by McDonald by a line drive from Rolfe.

WHITE HOPE LICKED

CHICAGO, May 1.—Another white hope's chances are blasted today since Billy Harrison, 200 pounds net, was bested in a bout in a local gymnasium that only went two rounds because Joe Herrick delivered a sleeping potion. The fact that both men came from Kewaunee, did not seem to excite any pity in the bosom of Herrick, and he handed Harrison his best wallop at the first opportunity.

PACKEY CLEANS $200,000

CHICAGO, May 1.—Packey McFarland has been doing a little figuring. Today the numerals show his earnings since he entered the fight game to be in excess of $200,000. Of this $110,000 was his share of fight profits and the remainder his pay for theatrical appearances. Packey is twenty-four, thrifty and with no bad habits. He is certain that when he is ready to retire he will be close to the millionaire class.

DETROIT, May 1.—The winning streak of the White Sox was cracked 4 to 3 in ten rounds yesterday. The tenth started with Cobb and Crawford up. Cobb nicked a safety and Waho punched a line drive to center. As Bodie picked up the ball Cobb stopped at second and then digging for third put a heave in that direction. The score: R H E Chicago . . . 010000020—3 4 0 Detroit . . . 1000010101—4 8 4 Batteries: Mogridge, Lange, Walsh and Block; Willett's and Stange.

PITCHES NO HIT GAME

OKOMULGEE, Okla., May 1.—Owners of the Okomulgee, Okla., league team were today beginning to figure on the fancy price they may ask for Pitcher Burnett if the big league magnates can see as far as Okomulgee. Burnett pitched a no-hit game against Muskogee yesterday, winning 5 to 0.

A Bargain

Charles M. Schwab, at a luncheon at Loretto, said of a youthful millionaire:
"It's no wonder he has become a millionaire quickly. His readiness at a bargain is wonderful. They tell a story about him and a great captain of industry."

"When, some ten years ago, he was struggling along in the insurance business, he called on the captain of industry and said:
"Can you spare me a few moments, sir?"

"Young man," the captain of industry replied, "my time is worth $1,000 an hour, but, since you come well introduced, I don't mind giving you thirty minutes."

"That's $500," said the young man. He paused, then added quickly: "I'll save you $250, sir, by just taking a quarter of an hour in cash."

Some men are so stingy they want to see the parade without going to the circus.

WATCHING THE SCOREBO

Club owners of the two leagues are making a close study of the bodied umpires these days and if the Cincinnati Reds are not checked umpire-managers may be all rage next season.
With everyone back in league save Dooan, Horace Fogel, his Philadelphia troupe will solid silver horseshoes on the top of their caps and this afternoon apt to spike their jinx. McGraw backing the jinx.
Some ball players just really cannot help using their feet.

ing to play a fast game but Ty Cobb made foot work rank with headwork yesterday by booting the ball from third to the grandstand and scoring on the near gridiron play.

The world's champions missed about everything sent their way by Hall and by Dent of the Red Sox and with Baker and Collins getting the only hits to amount to anything it was easy for Boston.
